nother Deputy Collector Arrested for Accepting Bribe Money.

Another ex-Deputy United States Collector of Internal Revenue, Thomas F. Bush, of 540 East Fourteenth street, who imitated the pantata methods of the New York Police Force, was arrested this morning. He was arraigned before Commissioner Shields.

Collector Edward Grosse, of the Third Revenue District, of New York, swore to the complaint. The collector accuses Bush during the month of July or August, of taking $19 from Luigi Granite, a retail liquor dealer of $20 East One Hundred and Friteenth street, and retaining the money for his own use, thereby defrauding the United States Government. The information against Bush was furnished by Luigi Granite and his son, George Granite.

Commissioner Shields held Bush in $2,000 bail, which was furnished. Examination will take place on Jan. 8.

Bush is the second deputy collector from the Third District to be arrested. Terrence F. McGowan was held Saturday, Many other arrests are expected on similar charges.

Stephenson did not seem in the least affected. He was led back at once to the Tombs.

room at an early hour, that a sensational climax was about to be reached in the work of the Committee.

Pavorable Outlook for Sensations.

The outlook was favorable for such a result. A Christmas Day batch of subpoenas had been sent up to Police Headquarters and had been distributed by Supt. Byrnes among his subordinates, including three inspectors and nine captains. The inspectors summoned are Alexander S. Williams, William W. McLaughlin and Thomass F. McAvoy, and the target made by Sergt Taylor. Police Justice John R. Voorhis is in the same box, and he turned up as a captains are Ryan, of the Highbridge station; Washburn, of the Kingsbridge: station; Washburn, of the Kingsbridge:

Fourth street; Killilea, of West One Hundred and Fifty-second street; Gallagher, of East Twenty-second street; Strauss, of East Sixty-seventh street; Murphy, of West One Hundredth street; Delaney, of Charles street, and Martens f East Thirty-fifth street.

Besides this, it was said that the Suserintendent himself had also received Christmas greeting from Mr. Goff in he shape of a subpoena, which requested him to appear in person and produce before the Committee certain musty old records of the Police Depart ment, which a number of clerks spent steerage passengers on the steamer the greater part of the holiday yesterday Southwark, recently detained off that in looking up and arranging in order. the greater part of the holiday yesterday in looking up and arranging in order.

This is a big list of witnesses for Mr. Goff to select from, and who would be the first to be called was as much of a mystery this morning, as it has been at the commencement of every day's hearing in the past. No one outside of Mr. Goff himself has ever heen able to say heforehand what a day would bring forth, and the chief counsel even has often been uncertain of his witnesses and ignorant of how much they would be willing to tell.

Committee on Rumors at Work.

Committee on Rumors at Work.

There were plenty of rumors in circulation the morning, however, that several of the captains who had been summoned, as well as one and possibly two of the Inspectors were prepared to make confessions and tell all they knew about the corruption and blackmailing practices of the Police Department, and that they had decided to do this in the hope of saving themselves from future prosecution and possible disgrace.

A similar service, he declared, was performed for some disorderly-house keepers by Max Hochstim, who, Shalvey said, was looked upon as the regular agent for the houses.

The holiday sessions of the Lexow Committee, which resumed its hearings in Part I, of the Superior Court this increase a specific of the control of the control of the committee room. He stood out with the crowd in the corridor talking with inspector McAvoy and Capt. Westerveit, who had accompanied him down there. Capt. Washburn was already on hand. Hoth of the Inspectors were in uniform. They declined to talk upon the subject of their examination. Chairman Lexow further said that so long as there was any testimony of importance to be received he was in favor of holding sessions until midnight, if necessary, in order to get it all in.
